History

The Fort is located at Sriranganapatna town in Sriranganapatna taluk, Mandya District

The fort at Sriranganapatna encompasses the present day town, along the riverbed. The walls of the fort are strong; it is built in double enclosure. The walls are thick in meters, built of mud ramping and encased with strong stones. There are several hundred rifle shooting holes and cannon stands on the top of the wall. The fort was first built by Timmanna Dandanyaka, in 1454 AD. In 1654 AD Kantheerava Narasaraj Wodeyar rebuilt the fort, and Tipu renovated with the help of French engineering to suit the need in 1791 AD. It consists of Bastions gates, dungeons gun powder houses etc. The fort is best of its kind in defense architecture.
