History

The Lakshmikantha Temple is located at Hedatale in Najanagudu Taluk, Mysuru District. This temple is a trikutachala comprising a navaranga, a porch and a mukhamantapa. The main cell, with a sukhanasi and a stone tower, enshrines Lord Lakshmikantha in the form of Nambinarayana. The north cell contains an image of Lakshminarasimha, while the south cell bears Venugopala. The navaranga pillars are well molded and the 3' deep central ceiling is beautifully carved with a long pendant lotus bud. The porch has a large flat ceiling of 9 lotuses. The front hall, a grand structure supported by 24 elegantly carved pillars, is adorned with 11 ceilings. The hall, known as Hadinaru mukhada chavadi, has 16 faces or openings.
