

29. Mulasthaneshwara Temple

Place - Tagaduru, Nanjanagudu

District : Mysuru

Taluk : Nanjangudu

Locality : Tagaduru

Geo - Coordinates:

Lat : 12.268208° N

Long : 76.616185° E

History

The Mulasthaneshwara temple is located in Tagaduru in Nanjanagudu taluk, Mysuru district.

Tagadur, also called 'Tagadurusthala' or 'Hiriya mahanadu' was a major administrative unit, ruled by a feudatory family. The Mulasthaneshwara temple, to the north of the village, has a garbhagriha, sukhanasi, navaranga and an ardhmantapa in the front. However, the navaranga is separate with a narrow vestibule leading to the huge Mukhamantapa. It is supported by cylindrical pillars. An interesting feature of the temple is that the Shivatinga is placed in the Sukhanasi (vestibule) instead of the Moola Garbhagriha. There is also a well-ornamented standing image of Vishnu with Chola features. Near this is the large 1 mt. high image of Veerabhadra.

3D Point Cloud

Plan