History

Sri Someswara temple is located at Mulabagilu town, Kolar district.

The main temple consists of a garbhagriha, a closed sukanasi, an open sukanasi and a navaranga. In front of the navaranga doorway, which has Gajalakshmi on the lintel, stands a porch with ornate pillars and a fully ornamented Nandi in it. To the east of the porch is the old mahadvara with ornate square planned Vijayanagara type pillars bearing relievo sculptures. The figure of Surya on the east face of the front right pillar is finely carved. This is a very plain temple of granite with a natural linga, about 30 cm high on a low seat.

The pillars in the navaranga have cubical mouldings deeply cut and fluted sixteen sided shafts. On each face of the cubical mouldings are the images of gods and goddesses. Inside the navaranga is a set of the saptamatrika image with their vehicles.
