History

The fort, according to one account, was built by Khangaunda Desai and according to another account by Ankushkhan of Laksmesvara. It had fifteen bastions, but the north wall with three bastions was razed to the ground in 1858 by order of Government. The walls are nineteen feet high and round except the Virabhadra bastion, which is an octagon and built with well-dressed stone. The gate which faces the east is 10?X15? and has two bastions one on each side, measuring forty feet high and thirty in diameters. The fort is surrounded by a ditch, which is about twelve feet deep, and from eighty to a hundred feet wide at the top.
