History

The temple faces north. It consists of a square hall with exactly similar rectangular side halls on each side and an octagonal shrine, on the southern side of it. Each side hall on the east, north and west has entrances. The doorframe on each side is plain. On either side of the doorway are dvarapalas. The lalatabimba contains a tiny Ganesha bimba. In front of the northern door is a small parapet with three openings each on one side for entrance. 4713151, 0798875
